3.3.1. Rate of transmission

Depending on the used technical medium the maximum available standard internet speed is up to 200 Mbps.

The actually attainable speed depends, apart from the technical conditions at the location, also on the network utilization of the internet backbone.

The transmission speed only refers to the direct Internet access. Transmission speed can be affected by simultaneous usage of the internet access.

Bottlenecks within the Internet itself, which may lead to reduced transmission speeds, cannot be influenced.

Allocation of a permanent IP address is not part of the service specifications. User IP addresses are allocated dynamically.

With the BOSS Entertainment cable connection the rate-dependent transmission rate for downstream is 200 Mbps and upstream 10 Mbps, which represents the upper limit and cannot be guaranteed. The actually reached transmission rate depends on user density and usage intensity at the given point of time.

After the storage time is exceeded the recorded programs will automatically be deleted. Longer storage time can be realized by using the DVR function of the easyTV set-top box with connected USB storage device. The first priority of the easyTV set-top box is a USB device; therefore if a USB device is connected the recording will not be made on the Cloud DVR. Programs stored on the Cloud DVR can not be transferred to a USB device.

Cloud DVR (NPVR) function is provided to facilitate flexible TV viewing experience but not for enduring storage of programming. Recorded programs are not property of the customer and TKS cannot be held liable for any lost recordings.
